THERAPEUTIC CHILDCARE Hopefulness in a Changing Landscape

Venue: Catrin Finch Centre - Glyndwr University, Wrexham

Glyndwr University and The Consortium for Therapeutic Communities have come together to present this exciting and innovative conference.

The conference will appeal to those already working in the looked after children sector, professionals interested in developing their practice and those that have an interest in working with children now and in the future in aligned occupations.

We intend to provide the ideal opportunity to come together with other professionals and participate in workshops and debate with speakers and presenters. There will also be the prospect of meeting young people representing looked after children, whilst enjoying a range of networking opportunities.

Our aim in delivering this conference is to promote high quality care that improves the physical health, social, educational and emotional wellbeing of looked-after children and young people.
